"Brochure Updated March 2014

Law and Justice Brochure Introduction

The Tulalip Tribes has always provided a forum for Tribal Members in which to resolve issues. Some of the first issues the Tribal Court heard were employment issues to protect the rights of employees, and in child welfare cases to protect children. The Tribal Court has grown substantially since that time when the Tribe made the decision to take back Jurisdiction over Reservation lands from the State of Washington in 2001. Retrocession allowed the Tribes to create and establish its own Tribal Police Department in which to preserve, protect and advance sovereignty and self-determination, but equally important to also ensure the protection of life and property. Having a growing Tribal Police Department meant that Tribal Court services had to increase to meet the demands of an ever-expanding population on the Reservation. The Court provides due process and equal protection under the law to all Tulalip Tribal members.

The purpose of the Tulalip Tribes Law and Justice Brochure is to provide information to the Tribal members who receive services through the Tribal justice system.

Tulalip Tribal Court/ NW Intertribal Court System

The NW Intertribal Court System (NICS) was established in 1979 in response to the provisions of the federal court decision known as the Boldt Decision allowing Tribes with fisheries law enforcement and judicial systems to conduct treaty fisheries without state control.

In 1979, Tulalip and many other treaty fishing tribes lacked law and justice systems. The establishment of NICS, melding together the sovereignties of a dozen tribes, satisfied the Federal Court requirement of a tribal court system to handle cases arising from activities of treaty fishing enforcement agencies.

Today, NICS administers the judicial (including pro-tem) functions of the Tulalip Tribes and also provides Appellate Court Services.

Chief Judge Theresa Pouley (Colville Tribe) and Associate Judge Gary Bass (Colville Tribe) are licensed attorneys and preside over the Tulalip Tribal Court's Judiciary.

The Tulalip Tribal Court hears cases involving dissolution of marriage, child custody, child support, criminal, guardianship, employment appeals, gaming license appeals, domestic violence, personal protection orders, traffic and youth-in-need of care cases, as well as many other types of cases.

To contact NICS, call Dan Kamkoff, Director (Lummi Tribal member), NW Intertribal Court System, 20818-44th Ave. W., #120, Lynwood, WA 98036. Phone 425/ 774-5808. To contact the Tulalip Tribal Court, please call 360/ 716-4778 for Wendy Church, Court Director (Tulalip Tribal Member), 360/ 716-4790 for Stephanie Ancheta, Court Administrative Assistant (Tulalip Tribal Member) or for Court Clerk Office questions, contact Janine VanDusen, Esq. (Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma) or write to: 6103 31st Avenue NE, Tulalip, WA 98271.

Tulalip Law & Justice Committee

In 2001, the Tribes created a Tulalip Tribal Law and Justice Committee which meets once a month. The purpose of the Committee is to promote discussion, coordinate programs, and plan and implement strategies for a more efficient and effective justice system here on the Reservation.

Committee members include the Judges, Court Director, Prosecutors, Police Chief, Deputy Police Chief, Probation officer, Corrections, NICS, Tulalip Gaming Agency, Tulalip Office of Reservation Attorney, Civil Legal Aid, Defense Counsel, Parent Advocate Attorney, Beda?Chelh, Child Support and others.

Tribal Artist Produces Artwork Symbolic of Justice and Native Pride

Tribal Court contacted artist Mike Gobin (Tulalip Tribal member) of the Tribal Design Department, to see about acquiring artwork for the courtrooms in 2010.

Mike envisioned two large cedar, spindle whorls to be displayed behind the judges benches in courtrooms I and II. “I carved these pieces in honor of my father Thomas J. Gobin, former Arlington Police Chief (15+ years); the one-time TGA Director; and pastor. He often said “people will judge you by the company you keep. You can fool your friends, you can fool your family, but you can’t fool yourself.” His father’s Indian name “yezoelafsifab” means man soaring with eagles, a man of high integrity. The innately beautiful woodcarvings bear the scales of justice with a salmon design.

These creations are symbolic of justice, sovereignty and Native pride. Mike’s been an artist for 45 years mostly painting with acrylics. When the Tribal Design Dept. opened roughly 7 1/2 years ago, he started carving under the auspices of artists’ James Madison, and Joe Gobin.

Tulalip-Based Juvenile Diversion Panel (C.A.B.)

Since starting the Juvenile Diversion Panel (known as the Community Accountability Board) in July 2010, the C.A.B. has heard over 75 cases so far. This diversion program is an alternative to the juvenile court process.

The C.A.B. meets monthly with tribal member youths under the age of 18 years old who are arrested for minor offenses and are eligible for participation in the C.A.B. Objectives of the panel are to hold the youth accountable for their actions, foster a change in attitude, impress upon the youth the community is concerned about their conduct, increase awareness of their behavior; and to maximize opportunities for youth.

Current C.A.B. member volunteers include: Teri Nelson, Sandy Gotts, Melania Baublitz and Judge Gary Bass. "We all want the youth to be positive, productive members of our community. The C.A.B. is a way to let the youth know that everyone makes mistakes when they are young and deserve a second chance while still holding them accountable for their actions," said former C.A.B. member volunteer Angel Cortez.

We are actively recruiting additional volunteers for the Tulalip-based C.A.B. Volunteers must possess an interest in youth and commitment to the welfare of others; have a non-judgmental attitude; treat youth and families with dignity and respect; be able to hold confidences and respect others' privacy; be able to communicate effectively; able to work and problem solve with other volunteers; and have prior experience with youth. The C.A.B. meets once a month from 5:30 to 7:30 pm at the Tribal Court.

If you are interested in being a volunteer, please contact coordinator Sara Bolton for an application at 425/ 388-7886. Applicants will be screened for any criminal record.

Tulalip Court Elder's Panel

Elder's of the Tribes volunteer their time to sit on the Elder's Panel. Panel members include; Donald C. Hatch, Lee Topash, Hank Williams, Eleanor M. Nielson, and Dale Jones. The Panel meets at the Court every 2 weeks to meet with young (18-25years old), first-time, non-violent offenders who have been charged with minor criminal offenses.

Participation in the Elder's Panel is voluntary by the offender. If the offender successfully completes the one-year requirements imposed by the Elder's Panel, the offender's charges will be dismissed in Court.

The Elder's Panel may require regular appearances before the Panel; writing letters of apology; community service; substance abuse treatment; impose curfews; UA's; research of family history, spiritual activity (not necessarily religious); anger management classes; mental health evaluations; and no new law violations.

Tribal Court Judge Bass has referred more than 65 young people to the Panel in the last 6 years of which fewer than ten percent have returned to the court system.

Tulalip Tribal Court Elder's Panel were honored by the Washington State Bar Association (WSBA) for the Local Hero's Award July 24, 2009.*

The WSBA Board of Governors searches statewide for noteworthy programs that have made substantial contributions to their communities, such as the Tulalip Tribal Court Elder's Panel.

Most often, these awards go to Lawyers, but in special circumstances, this recognition is bestowed upon non-lawyers. Congratulations to the important work of the Tulalip Tribal Court Elder's Panel for their civic contributions to this community, and our young adults.

Virginia Carpenter serves on the Elder's Panel when it was given the WSBA award until she retired in 2009. William G. Shelton also served on the Elders Panel until he passed away January 1, 2013.

Tulalip Tribal Prosecutor's Office

The Tulalip Tribes' Officer of the Reservation Attorney (ORA) has two branches: The General Counsel Division (GCD) and Court Services Division (CSD). The GCD represents the Board of Directors. The Prosecutors are part of the CSD and provide legal counsel to Tribal Police.

Tribal Prosecutors enforce tribal criminal and civil laws. Prosecutors are primarily responsible for charging individuals for law violations under the Tulalip Tribal Code. These offenses include violent crimes, domestic violence, sexual assault, drug and alcohol related crimes, property crimes; as well as gaming, housing, fishing, hunting and non-criminal traffic matters.

Tulalip Tribal Prosecutors are entrusted with broad discretion to decide whether or not to file criminal charges when someone is suspected of having committed a crime, a prosecutor has an ethical duty not to file charges if there is not enough evidence to prove the person's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

The Prosecutors for the Tulalip Tribes are committed to the vigorous, fair and efficient prosecution of crimes on the Tulalip Reservation and to working within the criminal and civil justice systems to enhance the administration of justice.

The CSD/ Prosecutors are: David Wall, Prosecutor, Saza Osawa (Makah Tribe), Assistant Prosecutor; and Sharon Jones Hayden, Domestic Violence-Sexual Assault Prosecutor. The Prosecutors office is supported by David Wall, Prosecutor and Sharon Jones Hayden, Domestic Violence-Sexual Assault Prosecutor. The Prosecutor's Office is supported by Brenda Laird, Paralegal and Tribal Spokesperson, Yvonne Bermudez (Coeur d'Alene Tribe), Paralegal and Tribal Spokesperson and Michelle Sheldon, Tribal Spokesperson.

Tulalip Tribal Probation Office

The Tribe's Probation Officer makes reports to the Court and sentencing recommendations for both Pre-Adjudication and Post Adjudication Criminal Matters in not only Tulalip Tribal Court but also for other courts including: State, Federal and other Tribal Courts. The Tribe's Probation Department monitors all clients under court supervision for criminal matters. The Tribe's Probation Department coordinates with the Tribe's Central UA Department, Tulalip Behavioral Health Services, Beda? chelh, various State and Federal Probation and Corrections Departments, and numerous treatment facilities in the monitoring of clients under the courts supervision and their compliance with court ordered services.

The Tribe's Probation Office further coordinates and tracks the Tribe's Community Service program, coordinates with the County and other Agencies with matters of dual supervision. Further the Probation Office on a weekly basis provides after hours transportation to AA/NA Sobriety meetings in an effort to get clients involved in a clean and sober setting with other folks in recovery.

To contact the Tulalip Tribe's Probation Officer call the main number at 36-/716-4800. To reach a particular team member call: Jim Furchert at 360/716-4802, Tashena Hill at 360/716-4803, or Mika Jira at 360/716-4801.

UW Native American Law Center—Public Defense Clinic

The Tribal Court Public Defense Clinic at the University of Washington Native American Law Center provides public defense services in Tulalip Tribal Court. Under the supervision of Clinic Supervisors, Molly Cohan and Brenda Williams, University of Washington law students assist with the representation. The supervisors' areas of expertise include: criminal law, tribal criminal law, the Indian Civil Rights Act, as amended by the Law and Order Act, and the re-authorized Violence Against Women Act.

This public defense service has been in place since 2002. Since that time, the Clinic has handled over 2000 cases in the Tulalip Tribal Court. Second and third year University of Washington law students are selected after application to work in the Clinic. All clinic advocates must pass the Tulalip Tribal Court Bar Exam and be admitted to practice by the Tulalip Tribal Court. Students work closely with their supervisors, forming a defense team that works on behalf of the accused. Funding for this service is supported primarily by charitable contributions from the Tulalip Tribes.

The Tribal Court appoints the Tribal Court Public Defense Clinic when the defendant's household income qualifies under Tulalip law. If you are charged with a criminal offense in the Tulalip Tribal Court, you may apply to be screened for eligibility in advance of your first hearing or you may apply at the time of your first court date. Applications are available at the Tribal Court or at the website below. If you are eligible for Clinic representation, Clinic Counsel will be appointed to represent you at your first Court hearing. If the Clinic cannot represent you due to a conflict of interest, the Court will appoint Conflict Counsel. If you are arrested and incarcerated prior to charging, you must appear before the judge at which time you may apply for Counsel.

To contact the Clinic, you can call toll free at 1-866-550-2979. If no one answers, leave a message with a good time to call back. You may also call (206) 616-4201 or (206) 685-3917.

Defense Counsel — Conflict of Interest

Outside Defense Counsel are appointed by the Judge at the time of your hearing if a conflict of interest exists in a specific case at the Court's expense.

Tulalip Office of Civil Legal Aid

The Tulalip Office of Civil Legal Aid (TOCLA) provides legal assistance to low income members of federally recognized tribes with civil matters at the Tulalip Tribal Court.

TOCLA focuses on legal issues that affect Tribal members' safety, family integrity, health, and access to services and education. These types of cases include: Consumer Law (fraud, unfair loan agreements), Education (special education advocacy, school discipline, enrollment issues), Exclusions (advice only on petitions for exclusion deferral), Family Law (divorce, custody, guardianships), Housing (guidance and advice concerning housing and tribal land issues), Indian Estate Planning (wills, health care directives, powers of attorney), Youth Advocacy (representation by court appointment only).

TOCLA is staffed by Staff Attorney Christina Parker (Chippewa Cree) and Court Projects Supervisor Nicole Sieminski (Tulalip). Please call the TOCLA intake line at (360) 716-4517 for more information or to determine your eligibility.

Tribal Parent Advocacy Project

Income eligible parents of a child involved in a Youth in Need of Care case (otherwise known as a dependency or bedahel case) at the Tulalip Tribal Court may be eligible for legal representation by the Tulalip Tribes' Tribal Parent Advocacy Project (TPAP) through the Tulalip Office of Civil Legal Aid (TOCLA). TPAP is staffed by Parent Advocate Attorney Kristy Raven Healing (First Nations descendant) and Parent Advocate Attorney Amy Lettig (Yakama). Please call Ms. Healing at (360) 716-4534 or Ms. Lettig at (360) 716-4518 for assistance in determining whether you are eligible for representation.

NW Justice Project Native American Unit

The NW Justice Project's Native American Unit (NAU) provides free civil (non-criminal) legal services for low-income Native Americans and Alaska Natives who cannot afford a lawyer.

The Native American Unit's Attorneys offer services ranging from limited assistance to full representation depending on the legal issue and individual circumstances. We provide legal assistance in the following areas:

-Exclusions/ Banishments; Indian Child Welfare (non-parental custody cases and adoptions in State Superior Courts); Tribal Housing (evictions or to preserve housing on Indian lands); Education (including discipline, discrimination and special education); Health Care (in cases where individuals have been denied services or coverage from an Indian Health Services clinic or denied coverage under Contract Health Services); Estate Planning and Probate (cases where an individual with trust property wants to create a will, and also in probate cases before the Bureau of Indian Affairs); Employment (including discipline and terminations); Other issues (in Tribal Courts, including public benefits/ Indian monies, domestic violence and other matters).

To find out if we can help you, call Northwest Justice Project's toll-free hotline ("CLEAR") at 1-888-201-1014 and press 5 to leave a message for the Native American Unit. You can leave a message 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and the NAU will return your call within 2 business days. The best time to call is before 9:00 am and after 12:30 pm.

Tulalip Tribes Child Support Program

Indian Children are the most valued resources of the Tulalip Tribes and constitute the future of the Tribes. The purpose of the Tulalip Child Support Program (TCSP) is to enforce the child's right to support (financial, medical, emotional, and cultural) from both parents in order to raise the standard of living for Tulalip children. TCSP established paternity and child support orders, enforces State and Tribal Court orders and modifies Tulalip child support orders. This program will work in collaboration with all agencies and departments to help meet the needs to the entire family.

The Tulalip Child Support Program allows child support to be consolidated into one department. TCSP handles all child support matters, whether it is a TANF referral, separation, divorce or parenting plan. TCSP brings these cases to Tribal Court.

For additional information or assistance, contact RoseAnn Green (Tulalip Tribal Member). Office Manager at 360-716-4557. (*The Child Support Program offices are located at: 6406 Marine Drive, Tulalip, WA 98271).

Tulalip Tribes Elder Protection & Vulnerable Adult Team

The Tulalip Elder's Abuse Program (TTEPVT) is committed to conducting prompt, thorough and effective investigations and assistance to victims of elder abuse under the Tribes' Elder Protection & Vulnerable Adult Ordinance.

This commitment recognizes the importance of minimizing trauma for victims and their families, holding offenders fully responsible for their conduct and providing appropriate intervention and prevention services to Elders. The Advocate/Case Manager is currently located at the Senior Center to assist in all aspects of Elder and Vulnerable Adult exploitation, abuse and neglect.

Contact Cara McCoy (Tulalip Tribal member), TTEPVT Manager at 360/ 716-4689; Main TTEPT Phone # 360/ 716-4689; or Abuse Reporting Line: 360/ 716-4222.

Office of Reservation Attorney (ORA)

The mission of the Office of Reservation Attorney is to support, defend and advance the interests of the Tulalip Tribes of Washington by providing quality legal services to tribal policy makers and staff.

The Tulalip ORA serves as chief legal representative and advisor to the Tulalip Board of Directors. Under the policy direction of the Board, the ORA provides timely and efficient legal services to directors, officers, employees and staff of tribal government and tribal business enterprises, including subordinate tribal entities. The ORA also acts as liaison to federal, other tribal, state and local governments, court systems, officials, professional associations, and interest groups on matters of interest to the Tulalip Tribes.

Under the technical supervision of the Reservation Attorney, the ORA provides legal services on a wide range of issues. Practice areas include natural and cultural resources, land use, child support/ welfare, real property, treaty rights, procurement, preference, tort, contract, constitutional, gaming, municipal, environmental, intellectual property, natural resources and employment law and litigation. The major functions of the Office are to:

- Represent the Tulalip Tribes and its representatives in Judicial, Legislative, Executive and Administrative proceedings.
- Provide legal advice to tribal policy makers, executives, managers and staff on issues of concern to the Tulalip Tribes.
- Provide information, referral and legal assistance to Tulalip Tribal members on minor matters where the assistance does not present an apparent conflict with the ORA's primary duty to provide legal counsel to the Tulalip Tribes.

- Coordinate with federal agencies that have responsibilities in Indian country, such as the Department of Health and Human Services, the Departments of Interior, Housing and Urban Development, Agriculture, Education, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Indian Health Service.

The ORA is staffed by attorneys: Mike Taylor, Tim Brewer, Michelle Demmert (Tlingit), Khia Grinnell (Jamestown S’Klallam/Lummi), Saza Osawa (Makah Tribe), Anthony Jones (Port Gamble S’Klallam), Lisa Koop (Delaware Nation-Moravian of the Thames Band), Sarah Colleen Sotomish and Brenda Laird (Quinault Nation), Lisa Vanderford-Anderson (Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma), Legal Dept. Mngr. Michelle Sheldon (Tulalip Tribal Member), & Paralegal/ Tribal Spokespersons Michele Robbins (St. Regis Mohawk) and Brenda Laird.

To contact the ORA, please call 360-716-4551, or write to us at: Office of the Reservation Attorney, The Tulalip Tribes, 6406 Marine Drive, Tulalip, WA 98271.

The Legacy of Healing Children's Advocacy Center
Protecting Children—Promoting Healing:

The Center serves children who are victims of crime, whether directly or as witnesses. We provide direct services to these children by engaging in prevention and education efforts about child abuse, by collaboration with law enforcement throughout the life of an investigation and criminal case, and by offering a healing path to child victims of trauma.

The services available include providing specially trained child forensic interviews at the request of law enforcement, one-on-one therapy by staff specially trained in trauma treatment, family therapy, direct victim advocacy through case staffing by our Tulalip Multi-Disciplinary Team, coordinating resources for children and families to heal after the assault, accompaniment to sexual assault medical examinations, court tours and prosecutor interviews, accompaniment during trial and assistance with Victim Impact Statements. All services that are provided are for the NON-OFFENDING party.

The Legacy of Healing Children's Advocacy Center is located at 7720 Waterworks Road, Tulalip, WA 98271. The main Legacy of Healing phone number is 360/ 716-4100.

Need Help Filling Out Court Forms and Navigating Through the Tribal Codes?

If you need help filing out Court forms, navigating through the Tribal Codes, and general guidance on Court procedures, the Court now has a Pro Se Judicial Facilitator to provide these services to the community. (Pro Se means that an individual party to a case is serving as their own attorney). Janine Van Dusen, Esq., who is the Tribal Court Administrator, can meet and assist you if you need to file paperwork with the Court in the following areas of family law (dissolution, custody, guardianships); housing issues (including evictions); employment cases (disciplines and dismissals), civil exclusions and power of attorneys.

Here are some ways the Pro Se Judicial Facilitator can help:

- Assist a client with new and existing court cases by suggesting required forms and pleadings.
- Explain what pleadings or forms have been served on you.
- Explain when forms might be incomplete and, therefore, not ready for filing.
- Explain Court procedures for setting motions and other matters heard by the Court.

The Pro Se Judicial Facilitator cannot:

- Give you legal advice, help you with legal strategy, or tell you how your case will come out.
- Take sides – they can help any party to a case.
- Be responsible for the accuracy of the information you have in any forms or papers you file or use in court.
- The Facilitator does not and cannot represent you in Court.

For Pro Se Judicial Facilitator services please come to Tulalip Tribal Court, Room #101 (left of the main entrance):

Every Monday from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Every Thursday from 10:00 a.m. 12:00 p.m.

For further information, you can call Janine at 360 / 716-4770.

Also, once a month, Janine will be doing outreach to the Tribal Elder's and will visit on-site to the Senior Center and/or Bingo to help the Elders and answer any questions they may have about the judicial system.

A Pro Se Judicial Facilitator cannot give legal advice nor can they represent you in Court. If you need full-on legal representation in a civil matter, please contact the Tribes' Civil Legal Aid Office to see if you are financially-eligible for their services at 360 / 716-4517 or you can hire a fee-for-service attorney at your own expense.

The Tribal Court has a list of fee-for-service attorneys available at the Court reception window; this list is also downloadable from the Tulalip Court's website listed under "What do I do if I don't have an Attorney?" at the bottom of the homepage at:
